

Career Posting: Full-Stack Developer

As a Full Stack Developer, you will be hands-on and a key contributor to the development of our safety software applications. You are responsible for analysis, design, development, and deployment of our large-scale enterprise application system. The Full Stack Developer works with a dynamic development team committed to our customers, ensuring innovation and industry leading applications are delivered.

1Life Workplace Safety Solutions is growing and adding new applications to our award-winning library of software so we are hiring a Full Stack Developer.

Qualifications for success:

- Relationship expert with a demonstrated commitment to customer satisfaction
- Minimum of three years developing industry leading software applications including mobility
- Proven success working with ColdFusion, PHP, or Java
- Broad knowledge of modern frameworks such as Angular, Vue, and React
- Experience working with relational databases
- Thrive in a fast-paced environment where collaboration is encouraged
- High attention to detail with proven time management and organizational skills
- A commitment to continuous learning and professional development

1Life Workplace Safety Solutions is a dedicated group of Safety Professionals, Software Programmers, and support team, passionate about sending workers home safe at the end of the day while supporting employers to increased efficiency and profits. We collaborate with a diverse client base to develop and continuously enhance powerful web and mobile applications that keep employees safe and save companies money.

1Life launched its first software product in 2010, mySafetyAssistant, to help small – mid-sized businesses efficiently and cost effectively develop, implement and sustain a quality safety management system. In 2017, support for mobile was launched for IOS and Android providing the next generation of “simpler, easier” workplace safety management.
